

The potato fields of next year ought to be as far as possible from those of this year.

A mixture of lime, common salt, and sulphate of copper, should be strewn on the potato field infected - this mixture having the power of destroying the poison left in the ground by the infected plants.

FRIGHTFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday, a collision took place between a passenger and a freight train on the Boston and Albany railroad, near Chester village station, by which a fireman, named Coleman, was seriously, and it is feared, dangerously injured; and three others connected with the trains were much bruised. None of the passengers received injury. The engine and two merchandise cars, and the post office car were damaged to an amount, as estimated, of about $3,000 to $3,500 dollars. As far as is ascertained, the accident was caused by a disagreement of three or four minutes in the time of the watches of the conductors of the two trains. The passenger train had just left the station and was met by the freight coming in, and within the first half mile. The conductor on the freight train was thrown out with the flour and other articles; and when first rescued, such is the "ruling passion," drew out his watch and exclaimed, "I have four minutes yet on my time!" and then fainted. He is supposed not to be dangerously injured.

MISERABLE DELUSION AND SCANDALOUS EXHIBITION.

The Millerite delusion in New York is leading to the most insidious practices. In Greene county, at a village a few miles back of Catskill, a company of Millerites, consisting of various ages and both sexes, a few weeks ago, in expectation of the immediate end of the world, concluding that abiding was no longer necessary, shut themselves up together in a state of perfect nudity for several days together. The discovery was made by the neighbors, through one of the young women, without a particle of clothing, being sent to get in the well for a pail of water, and the poor distorted creatures could not be induced to resume their apparel till the authorities of the place interferred and compelled them to do it. These facts are stated upon authority, the Sun says, the most unquestionable.

Negro, who keeps the house formerly occupied by P. P. Pearson at East Corinth;—and if not, they will do well to do so, the first time they travel that road—and they may rest assured, that they will find every thing right about the premises. They will find an attentive and obliging landlord, and a landlady, who knows how to cook a steak, or any other dish in proper style, make a dish of coffee or tea that no one could fault with, and more than that when pretensions upon her knowledge in three important items, for customers. And last thought not trust, a good waiter, and not a drop of the critter about the roomern, to injury one, or tickle the taste of those who love it, and find it in many a public house, where it is not sold openly, and many have been told that none at all was kept: In a word we would say that Mr. Noyes keeps such a house as deserving of a large share of the patronage of the public, and no doubt will receive it, when the people learn its merits:

The Gag was voted for by eleven locos from the free States, (one of them Norris of N. H.) but not a single Whig; and seven Whigs from the slave States voted against it, but not a single Loco! Can Mr. Wiley decide which of the two parties is most favorable to Liberty? The Locos, however, are feeling the rod of public opinion in this matter. Three years ago one half of the party members from the North would have voted for the gag. No Whig from the free States ever did or ever will vote for it. The whole vote on its adoption was 84 yeas to 121 nays—21 members absent, and four vacancies. —Kronus Journal.

LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS. A most dangerous counterfeit of the Mexican dollar has made its appearance, and is well calculated to deceive even good judges of coin. The counterfeit consists of two plates of silver of the value of 12 1-2 cents each, over a piece of copper or brass. The plates are distinct from the copper; the base and pure metals are not mixed, and hence the counterfeit will stand the trial of chemical agents. The mint marks, figures, &c. are of course stamped upon the pure silver plates, which are joined on the edge of the dollars so neatly as to defy scrutiny. They are the date of 1845.
